New this year – advertise with us in our conference program. Your advertising space helps to financially sponsor the conference while offering your business prime marketing opportunity. Support the 30th annual California Trails & Greenways Conference, while effectively advertising to this niche market of trail professionals from local, state and government agencies, non-profit associations, and community advocates for hiking, biking and horseback riding trails.

Business card sized space is available this year for $150, and space is limited. Deadline for ad reservation is March 19th.
