Dec. 19th at 6:30 p.m., 2014

For over thirty five years, the historic City Hotel in California's Columbia State Historic Park has celebrated the Holidays by recreating a 120-year-old banquet melodrama with a cast of colorful characters and minstrels mixed with great food and wines.

This year is particularly special because of the return of a number of original actors and singers who made this a very special gathering for over two decades. After a nine year hiatus, Tom Bender, long time hotel manager and co-creator of the Victorian Feast, has reassembled most of the original "gang" to help keep this long standing tradition alive!

Tom returns as the Morgan's bumbling butler, Terri Wilson revives her role as Fifi the maid, and Steve McArthur comes back as the heartless villain, DO Mills. The Mirth Glee Carollers, along with pianist Gail Johnson will once again fill our hearts with yuletide song. And some of our favorite actors from nearby Murphy's Creek Theater Company will join the fun. George and Martha Morgan, the 1870s proprietors of the City Hotel invite you to join them at their table as they have to deal with some "issues and colorful characters" making this holiday one to remember for years to come.

For three nights we will be mixing the melodrama with good cheer and holiday toasts, period musicians, a wonderful menu, and the beautiful surroundings of the restored Hotel. It is easy to see why the event fills weeks in advance. Guests return year after year to renew friendships, start their Christmas season, see what the Morgan's are up to, or spend the night in the towns historic and yuletide decorated hotels.

A spot at the table is $120 per person.

This year's event is being sponsored by the "Friends of Columbia" and serves as a fundraiser for this important nonprofit helpful organization within the State Park.

Advance booking and payment can be made at the friendsofcolumbiashp.org website. The reservation and advance payment is non-refundable.

Lodging needs to be made separately via the City Hotel website at parks.ca.gov/columbia.

We look forward to hearing from you and joining us for this wonderful holiday tradition!
