

Privacy Policy

Updated on: 11/07/2022

Thank you for visiting the State of California, Department of Parks and Recreation's website and reviewing our Use Policy. You should also be aware that the State has a Privacy Policy, also available on this website. The State wants you to know about the collection, use, security, and access to information that may be obtained through use of the State's web portal. By visiting this website, you are accepting the policies and practices described in this Notice. This Policy covers the following topics:

- Personal Information: Definition and Requirement to Obtain Lawfully
- Restrictions on Collection and Use of Personal Information
- Protection of Personal Information
- Website Information
- Responsible Official and Contact Information

The personal information collection and management policies, practices and procedures implemented by Department of Parks and Recreation are governed by law. The Department of Parks and Recreation sets forth the following privacy policy in compliance with Government Code sections 11015.5 and 11019.9 and the Information Practices Act of 1977 (Civil Code section 1798 et seq.).

Please note that this Privacy Policy is subject to change without notice, and that it reflects the State's current business practices. When changes are made, those updates will be posted immediately and implemented within 30 days of the revision date.

PERSONAL INFORMATION: DEFINITION AND REQUIREMENT TO OBTAIN LAWFULLY

The Department of Parks and Recreation may collect and maintain personal information only through lawful means. All agency employees who collect and/or maintain personal information strive to comply with the provisions of the Information Practices Act. "Personal information" includes but is not limited to any information or combination of information which identifies or describes an individual, including his or her name, social security number, physical description, home address, home telephone number, education, financial matters, and medical or employment history. Personal information also includes statements made by, or attributed to, the individual. Specifically, it includes information acquired through job applications and employee personnel files, grant applications, contracts for services from individuals, public comments, or questions via mail or email.

RESTRICTIONS ON COLLECTION AND USE OF PERSONAL INFORMATION

The purposes for which the Department of Parks and Recreation may collect personal information will be specified at or prior to the time such information is collected. The personal information collected is relevant to the purpose for which it is needed. Any subsequent use of the information will be limited to and consistent with the fulfillment of those purposes previously specified.

The Department of Parks and Recreation will not disclose, use for any purpose other than as specified at the time it was collected, or make available any personal information collected, except with the written consent of the subject of the information or as otherwise permitted by law or regulation.

The State may provide or distribute certain lists and statistical reports of regulatory information as provided by law, but no personal information is distributed, and all relevant legal protections still apply to the State's websites.

PROTECTION OF PERSONAL INFORMATION

We strive to protect personal information against loss, unauthorized access, use, disclosure, modification or transfer. The Department of Parks and Recreation employees responsible for the collection, use, maintenance, and/or dissemination of records containing personal information are trained to take appropriate precautions, including but not limited to authentication, monitoring, auditing, and encryption to ensure proper administrative, technical, and physical safeguards are established and followed in order to protect the confidentiality of such information. Employees are trained to remove or redact personal information when data disclosures are necessary.

Individuals have a right to access information about themselves and may request a correction of any inaccuracies. In order to request access or correction of your information, see the contact information below.

WEBSITE INFORMATION

When you visit our website, you should be aware that during the data linking of your computer to our website, a “cookie” may be created. Temporary cookies may be used when necessary to complete a transaction, to process data submitted to us online, to facilitate an ongoing Internet interaction, or to understand trends in the use of our website. Cookies do not compromise your privacy or security and only last until the user closes their browser. Using web browser settings, you can refuse the cookies or delete the cookie file from your computer by using any of the widely available methods. Keep in mind that each browser has its own method for removing cookies. Information on how to delete cookies from your computer can be found at the following website: <http://www.aboutcookies.org>

Certain sections of our website and our emails may contain small electronic files known as web beacons (also referred to as clear gifs, pixel tags, and single-pixel gifs) that permit the Department, for example, to count users who have visited those pages or opened an email and for other related website statistics (for example, recording the popularity of a certain section and verifying system and server integrity).

When you visit our website, transaction log information is collected, which includes: your domain name or Internet Protocol address, browser software used, requests submitted to our web-servers, date and time the website was accessed, and statistical information about which web pages you visited. This information is defined as electronically collected information, under Government Code 11015.5. Under Government Code § 11015.5, if you choose, you may have any personal information collected about you discarded without reuse or distribution, provided we are contacted in a timely fashion. In order to request that we discard your transaction log information, see the contact information below.

If you voluntarily participate in an activity that asks for specific information (i.e., completing a request for assistance, personalizing the content of the website, sending an email, or participating in a survey), more detailed data will be collected. If you choose not to participate in these activities, your choice will in no way affect your ability to use any other feature of the website.

Transaction log information will be disclosed to the Department of Parks and Recreation staff in order to help us manage and improve our website. This information is used only for internal purposes, allowing our staff to measure the number of visitors to the different sections of our website and to help improve our website for future visitors.

If any type of personal information is collected on our website or volunteered by the user, State law, including the Information Practices Act of 1977, Government Code section 11015.5, and the Privacy Act of 1974 require that it must be protected.

The Department of Parks and Recreation will not distribute or sell any electronically collected personal information about users to any third party. It should be noted that electronically collected personal information is exempt from requests made under the California Public Records Act.

RESPONSIBLE OFFICIAL AND CONTACT INFORMATION

The Department of Parks and Recreation Privacy Officer is responsible for the overall implementation and enforcement of this privacy policy.

Questions, comments or complaints regarding this privacy policy or requests for personal information access, correction, or deletion should be addressed to: privacy@parks.ca.gov
