

NORTH RIDGE TRAIL

CHINO HILLS STATE PARK FACT SHEET

Q: When will North Ridge Trail be open?

A: North Ridge Trail will be reopened upon completion of the road to trail conversion and walnut woodland restoration project planned to address the erosive contour of the trail. Project planning is complete and is awaiting funding.

Q: What work needs to be done?

A: The trail needs reshaping and added drainage features to prevent water flows and associated erosion from further destroying the trail bed as well as the protected Walnut Woodland habitat that lives on the north facing slope.

Q: What will the new trail designation be?

A: North Ridge trail will be converted from a road to a single track trail open to hikers, bikers and equestrian use.

Q: Can I volunteer my time to get it done faster?

A: This project will be completed by contracted or state trained workers. If you are interested in volunteering, California State Park Foundation organizes "Park Champion" workdays at Chino Hills SP and are a good way to get involved.
