California Department of Parks and Recreation Improves Distinguished Veteran and Disabled Discount Pass Programs

SACRAMENTO, Calif. — The California Department of Parks and Recreation (DPR) is modernizing the way it manages the Distinguished Veteran (DVP) and Disabled Discount (DDP) pass programs. Starting this month, June 15, the DPR will be issuing new credit card design passes for current DVP and DDP pass holders as part of its transition to California's new reservation system: ReserveCalifornia™. These individuals will need to visit one of 48 designated state park locations to work with DPR staff to create a new online profile and exchange their current pass for the new credit card design pass.

Enhancing the experience of distinguished veterans and disabled individuals is part of a larger effort to provide visitors to California's state park system with a new, faster, and easier-to-use camping and tour reservation system. ReserveCalifornia™ will go live on Aug. 1, 2017. A variety of features, such as interactive maps and self-service online options, will be phased in between August 2017 and Mar. 1, 2018 allowing for better trip planning and access to outdoor public spaces.

DPR is asking current pass holders to visit one of the 48 designated state park locations starting June 15, 2017, so they may continue to easily access state parks. It is important to note that current pass holders under the DVP and DDP programs may continue using their passes for camping reservations through July 31, 2017. Individuals may also use their current pass for day use through Feb. 28, 2018. Old passes will not be valid after these dates.

The section below provides details on what the in-person pass exchange entails, including what to bring, what to expect, and images of the current and new DVP and DDP passes. For detailed information, the public is encouraged to visit the pass exchange website at www.parks.ca.gov/passexchange or call (844) 421-8077. Please call in advance to arrange special accommodations.
