

Aerial of San Joaquin River Parkway

Trail at San Joaquin River Parkway

STATE PARKS FORWARD

The biggest expansion of State Parks in decades.

SAN JOAQUIN RIVER PARKWAY

(New park near Fresno and Madera Counties)

WHY IT'S NOTEWORTHY

Currently owned by the San Joaquin River Conservancy, the parkway is a vital corridor that enjoys broad public, local and state support. Immediately upriver from the City of Fresno, numerous public properties currently form a mix of multi-use parks with river access on both sides of the San Joaquin River.

WHY IT MAKES A GREAT STATE PARK

Joining various properties into an 874-acre state park will create expanded recreation opportunities and greater access along the river. The park would complement nearby Millerton Lake State Recreation Area to establish a water recreation hub near a major population center in a fast-growing region of the state.

STATE PARKS FORWARD

Introducing State Parks Forward, a bold vision adding three new state parks while growing existing parks by 30,000 acres by the end of the decade. Simply put, State Parks Forward means more parks in more places.

Map: Esri, TomTom, Garmin, USGS, FAO, NOAA, BLM, EPA, NPS, USFWS

We want to hear from you! Get updates on engagement opportunities and more at parks.ca.gov/Forward